

① Takahi bridge

② Kuma-aki bridge

③ Nagano bridge

④ Naro Tenmangu

⑤ Manga shrine

⑥ Tenmangu Camp

⑦ Folk museum

⑧ Kuma-aki spring

Rice fields

Maru-chan

Fireflies

Autumn leaves

① Takahi bridge

First submersible bridge in the main stream of Shimanto river. The bridge used to be in wood, but was often washed away during floods, so a concrete bridge replaced it. It became a cultural asset of the country in February 2009.

 Bicycle 25min
 Car 8min

② Kuma-aki bridge

Kuma-aki is the second submersible bridge over the Shimanto river. It was built in 1959, connecting Kuma-aki district and Naro district.

 Bicycle 19min
 Car 11 min

③ Nagano bridge

Nagano is the third submersible bridge over the Shimanto river, on the southern part of Onomi, and was built in 1940. The bridge connects Makinono on the east bank to Nagano on the west bank of the river.

 Bicycle 38min
 Car 14 min

④ Naro Tenmangu

In 1014, Tsuno Kunitaka, a castle owner of Tsuno Michiyo, solicited "Tenma University flexible Tenjingu" from Kitano in Kyoto, and it was held at the foot of the shrine. Nowadays, trace still remains. It is known as a guardian of Onomi village, and the annual festival on November 25 features Tengu and mikoshi.

 Bicycle 29min
 Car 12 min

⑤ Manga shrine

With its colorful roof, the manga shrine catches the eye. If you look inside, you will see a unique altar enshrined. In addition, at the time of Manga Koshien, high school students visit for a victory prayer.

 Bicycle 22min
 Car 22 min

⑥ Tenmangu camp

A spacious campsite on the riverside of the Shimanto River. Full of outdoor customers from spring to autumn. It's a natural campsite without excessive maintenance of facilities. Perfect for children to play in the river.

 Bicycle 32min
 Car 12 min

⑦ Folk museum

The building, which has a now rare double-layered roof, was once built on the site of the current city office in 1972 as a rice storage warehouse. Traditional fishing gear used in the Shimanto River, blacksmith's tools in the village, and other items collected from a wide range of fields give you an idea of the old life.

 Bicycle 24min
 Car 11min

⑧ Kuma-aki spring

Kuma-aki spring water that seeps from the rock doesn't wither even in winter. When used for making tea, the water amplifies the taste of the tea. It also softens the taste of coffee, and you can often see people coming from neighboring municipalities to take water.

 Bicycle 15min
 Car 8 min

Rice fields

Watered by the crystal-clear Shimanto river, Onomi village has long been intensively cultivated in fields hemmed by numerous hills and mountains. This area offers some of the loveliest views in the Shimanto river basin.

Maru-chan

Maru-chan is a Shiba Dog, a breed native to Japan. She's always happy to see people, so make sure to give her some caresses.

 Bicycle 24min
 Car 11 min

Fireflies

You can see fireflies from early to late June. The appearance situation of the fireflies changes with the weather. Pay attention to your footing and enjoy.

 Bicycle 18min
 Car 11 min

Autumn leaves

You can enjoy the valley rich in nature and full of colors in every season. The beauty of autumn leaves attracts people who often visit for photography.